

10 Ways High Speed Internet Can Help Earth

April 29, 2008

In honor of April's Earth Day celebrations, NextGenWeb put together a list of 10 ways that high speed Internet can help save the earth. These tips for your personal and professional life can help you go green using high speed Internet. The list is a great start, but many of the tips require high speed Internet access. For instance, NextGenWeb recommends videoconferencing as an alternative to air travel.

As we've written about before, high speed Internet can reduce carbon emissions, but it can also do a lot more. These environmental benefits are just one of a number of benefits of getting everyone connected to truly high speed Internet.

Links:

10 ways broadband can help change the world \(NextGenWeb\)